DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO ROB A MESSENGER

San Francisco, March 10.—An attempt to rob John Wilson, an aged messenger of the Seaboard bank, was made today on Market street. He carried a bag containing $5,000 in gold which he was conveying from the Western National bank. As he alighted from a street car opposite the Seaboard bank he claims to have been struck on the head by some one who attempted to secure the coin. The bag fell and its contents were scattered on the street. The money was recovered and Wilson was taken to a hospital. His assailant escaped.

ABOUT THE NEW SPRING APPAREL

Every day we receive large consignments of the new Spring Suits, Coats and Waists, which were personally selected by our representatives while in the east. They come from the leading tailoring firms of America, and have that striking air of quality and exclusiveness which is always characteristic of Women's Costumes at Z. C. M. I.

These garments are exhibited in a greater profusion of beautiful styles, offering more opportunities for choice selection and better values than any other showing of similar apparel in this city. This statement will be verified by general inspection and careful comparisons, which we earnestly invite. Everything is priced according to our usual policy of purely legitimate profit—simply asking you to pay for material and labor—the style being yours for the courtesy of buying.
